

Optical Sensor based Gestures Inference using Recurrent Neural Network in Mobile Conditions

- Recurrent neural network based models were evaluated on on selected mobile platforms (smartphones and tablets)
- Different tests were performed in order to measure the model inference time with respect to: sequence length / topology of a network / data sampling frequency / type of device
- Results present a significant improvement of inference time (shortening) between older and cutting edge mobile devices